¹ The following are deemed dispositive motions under this Order: motions for preliminary or permanent injunctive relief; motions to dismiss, for judgment on the pleadings, or for summary judgment; motions to certify a class action; motions to exclude expert testimony under Daubert v. Merrill Dow Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 509 U.S. 579 (1993), and/or Federal Rule of Evidence 702; motions to remand or transfer; and motions to compel arbitration. Absent permission of the Court, a party moving for a temporary restraining order must file and serve its motion papers, in addition to the Summons and Complaint, on the proposed-enjoined party before the Court will entertain the motion. A motion for a temporary restraining order is not subject to the 42-day rule set forth below; rather, the calendar clerk will advise the parties of the hearing date and briefing schedule. All motions for injunctive relief and motions to exclude expert testimony will be handled without live witness testimony absent advance permission from the Court.
